COUNSEL

MEMBER OF THE LYON BAR

Soulier
AVOCATS

With a year of study at a U.S. law school and a Master's Degree in international business law, Lydie began her professional career in Shanghai, China, where she spent five years and worked at a leading Franco-Chinese law firm

Lydie focuses her practice on corporate law, domestic and international contracts, and commercial law.

She provides legal assistance to a French and foreign clientele comprising primarily multinationals, industrial and services companies, SMBs, investors and business owners in connection with domestic and cross-border corporate transactions, external growth transactions, transfers of businesses, group reorganizations and restructurings, and equity transactions.

Lydie also assists French and foreign businesses in the drafting and negotiation of all types of domestic and international contracts.

Lydie provides legal advice to corporate officers and senior executives in connection with the performance of their corporate mandate and employment contract, as well as in the pre-litigation phase related to the termination of the corporate mandate to anticipate any legal proceedings.

Lydie has also developed a substantial expertise in assisting foreign investors in their expansion projects in France.
